

Playing The Ferret

Witty, playful, lively, and short-sighted. The ferret is the party animal that has everyone's best interests at heart, right after their own, of course. Whether through humor, drugs, charm, or even well-placed lies. The Ferret is about getting people onto their side. The root of their behavior tend to evade them, as much as the potential consequences. As long as it amuses someone and gets them some attention that's all they really crave. The rush of the now is much more important than planning for later.

With the stats available to the Ferret they will always be somewhat alluring and able to dish out more pain than they might realize. If they wish to be dramatically appealing they can easily stand out (Hot 2 & Cold 1) or they can have a bit more help standing up to those they will inevitably piss off (Hot 1, Cold 1 & Volatile 0). Either way they will always lack introspection (Dark -1). Sometimes it's easier to act the fool when you are one.

Treat Stash means you'll always be able to get something at the right time, you just might have to pay for it later. The moves Castle Couch Fort and Hiding Loudly give you (and only you) a way out of taking responsibility. Usually at the expense of your audience. If you find yourself on the edge of real trouble, Weasel War Dance makes it easier to end a fight without blows, while Ferratic gives you the chance to pull your verbal punches and maybe make friends.

The Ferret

All it takes is a bit of simple wit. A goofy face, a drawl in your speech, a word slipped into someone else's sentence. Then you have the rest of them laughing. Not at you - but because of you. It's a power you love, being the life of the party. Let them have their rolemodels and life goals, you're the one who really makes them live. And if you're there for them, perhaps they'll be there for you. You can only hope.

Darkest Self

The time to be serious is over and you were never that good at it anyway. Take what doesn't belong to you, make everyone's drama into a punchline, and party hearty! Who cares who finds it endearing or infuriating? The only laughter that matters is your own. You stay in your darkest self until you pass out from partying or someone makes you see things from their point of view.

Ferret Moves

Take Weasel Words and one more:

● Weasel Words

When you make someone laugh, add 1 to your next roll to Turn Them On. When you make someone cry, Keep Your Cool.

○ Ferratic

When you Shut Someone Down you may choose "they find your antics clever, funny, or harmless" instead of giving them a Condition.

○ Weasel War Dance

When you start a fight you weren't prepared to finish take 1 Forward to diverting attention to something crazier.

○ Treat Stash

You can always get any mundane supplies for a party or event. If you bring something to wow the crowd describe what shortsighted thing you did to get it.

○ Hiding Loudly

When you slack off and evade obligations, mark experience. If the blame lands on someone else they gain a String on you.

○ Castle Couch Fort

When you are purposefully evading authority figures don't roll to Run Away - you just do it. Name who gets caught instead.

Sex Move

Your partner may ask you a question, either in character or out of character. If you respond with a joke they gain 2 Strings on you. If you respond honestly, mark experience.
