Introduction

Calm waves rolling up on the beach leaving their soft foam behind with a myriad of ocean treasures. Tropical birds flying across the pastel sky. A ship bobbing lazily on the horizon. The faint sound of an ukulele. Holding a tropical cocktail with the biggest umbrella you've ever seen. Damn, you really needed this vacation. A retreat from the hectic life traveling across the spheres. And now you're here. Take a deep breath and lean back in the beach chair. Feel the caress of the warm sun across your face and all the worries of the world fading away.

Life has been rough for all of us during these troubled times. No matter where you live or who you are, I'm sure you've had your share of hardship and stress. This zine is for you.

Enjoy.

What's the deal?

Pastel Paradise is a tropical vacation sphere for Troika!, set in the Pastel Sea. It's supposed to be an "in between" sphere, where players can go to relax and spend their silver pence after long and exhausting adventures elsewhere in the humpbacked sky. Here's what you get:

- ★ A few inspirational vacation destinations to flesh out
- ★ A cosmic port serving as a travel hub
- ★ Turtle Island Resort, a fully detailed vacation destination
- ★ Backgrounds for your Troika! characters.
- ★ Enemies to make things a bit more interesting.
- ★ Random tables to help your vacation game come to life

How to use it?

As a one-shot: Start at the Cosmic Port (pg. 5) and invite the party to Turtle Island Resort (pg. 7) using an all-inclusive ticket from a mysterious benefactor. If you have less than four hours: Go straight to the island.

Other suggestions: Flesh out the locations and turn it into a sandbox, use it in your own setting, or just use the backgrounds and monsters.

This is your module now. Be inspired, rip it apart, use the good stuff, throw away the rest. Have fun with it. Happy vacationing!

Setting

A disc of water is carried on the backs of two playful dolphins frolicking in the endless cosmos. Its ocean is a vivid and elegant azure that calmly caresses its shores with an emerald foam. The sky is a pale pastel blue with peaceful shell pink clouds. At night the twin moons keep vigil as the heavens above are lit by countless constellations in every color of the spectrum. Welcome to Pastel Paradise.

History of the Pastel Sea

The Pastel Sea used to be a quiet place that just minded its own business. It had its cities and islands and beautiful waterscapes. The people lived in harmony and wished for nothing but a good catch and a nap in a hammock. Then the skies opened (literally) as a cosmic entity tore a rift in the sky. Through this cosmic rift, odd creatures and energies and magic entered in a cascading waterfall.

Visitors came to study the world, invade it for its riches, or simply go on a vacation. The chaotic atmosphere created by the rift made it impractical to travel by golden barge or other interstellar/dimensional vessels, so a need for more primitive vehicles arose.

Right below the rift, a cosmic port was built to accommodate visitors from other spheres. Its towering pink and silvery spire protrudes from the sea like a glittering swordfish breaching the surface. Here, ships are built and modified to be able to traverse the Pastel Sea. There is also a myriad of travel agencies that offer both adventure and relaxation packages. The prices are exorbitant, but sometimes a lucky traveler might be offered a spot as crew on a cruise ship or research expedition.

SEER

Starfish Entertainment Enterprises & Resorts (SEER) is the capitalist engine that makes the moolah go around in the Pastel Sea. They are responsible for the discovery and commercialization of most locations in the Pastel Sea. As ominous as that might sound, SEER is not actually all that bad. After many failed enterprises on other spheres they realized the importance of taking care of the ecosystem and native populace. Nobody wants to go vacationing in a barren cesspool after all.

Locations

The Pastel Sea is sprawling with visitors from spheres all over the humpbacked sky, and there is something for everyone! Just make sure to bring enough arms and legs to pay for all the fun!

Spira - The Cloud Spires

While most people decided to live in harmony with the ocean, the avian denizens of Spira built impossibly high spires to guard them from the dangers below and bring them closer to their phoenix goddess. Four paradise bird matriarchs rule this realm of tropical birds. From a distance, the spires look like cornstalks waving in the wind. Visitors are welcomed, but the only way to enter is by flight. Travelers visit to experience the intricate religious rituals carried out in the shrines to the phoenix goddess. And the view of course. Most of the Pastel Sea is visible from the top.

| 3 | A world-destroying entity's child lost its parents on the landing pad |

Chromatic Cave Complex

A cave-diver and spelunker's dream, this vast underwater cave is a kaleidoscope of prismatic colors. Rumored to connect the entire underground of the Pastel Sea, this is not a destination for the faint of heart. Many dangers lurk inside, including bizarre creatures, collapsing caves, and noxious gas. But the reward for traversing these rainbow-colored tunnels is breathtaking beauty beyond words. Travelers have been known to be hypnotized by the deepest chambers, not wanting to leave at all. It's said that some of these travelers get changed into strange creatures by the cave's mysterious powers.

The Golden Bazaar

A sprawling marketplace where anything from souls to golden barges can be found. As one of few actual islands in the Pastel Sea, its land comes at a premium, so the whole island is covered in scaffolding containing the bazaar's stalls on several floors. The bazaar is also home to a number of crime syndicates, waging relentless war against each other in the labyrinthine passages of the scaffolding. Make sure to hire a few mercenaries as protection when visiting. Items from most spheres can be found here, as long as one knows where to look. A Luck test is required to find an item, but for every failed test, something bad happens.

Yr - The End of the World

An alabaster ruin on the edge of the world counting its last days, just waiting to tip over into the eternal void. Nobody knows who built it, and soon it will be gone. Below, the world-carrying dolphins can be heard, and for brave souls, a platform attached to a chain brings them off the edge to witness the dolphins in person. The ruins themselves are vast and said to contain immense riches in hidden water-filled chambers.

| 3 | The end has come. Yr falls off the edge of the world into the void |

The Cosmic Port

A tear in the sky crackling with energy. Through it, golden barges, nautiloids, and other bizarre vessels enter the Pastel Sea. Vessels not equipped with reality distortion-shields may experience side effects. Below the rift, is a fuchsia-colored cylindrical structure that welcomes travelers from all corners of the cosmos. It is operated by SEER (pg. 2). After landing, please proceed to customs!

4F: Landing Platform

Shining with polished silver at day, lit by a million pink lights at night, the landing platform is sprawling with vessels from a multitude of worlds. Uniformed staff guide the landings with fluorescent glowing sticks.

4F: Customs

Adorned with a gigantic “Welcome to the Pastel Sea!” sign in neon pink and blue. Inside, thousands of travelers stand in line. Some wait for years to enter unless they gain access to the VIP fast lane. At the end of the line, a shrimp customs officer asks travelers to fill in a form and answer questions such as “What is the purpose of your trip?”, “Declare the last 793 spheres you visited”, “Carrying any world-destroying devices or substances?”

4F: Souvenir Shop

An armada of smiling shop attendants greets everyone at the entrance. The walls are lined with souvenirs for all budgets and tastes. Tourist pamphlets are free. A claw machine looms in a corner. It's 5 silver pence a pop. Do a Skill check to win a prize. At the far end are translucent elevators.

Turtle Island Resort

The exclusive Turtle Island Resort sits atop a gargantuan sea turtle that is propelled by a basket of exotic fruits on a rod. Dangling on its sides are pod-like bungalows that float on the sea when the giant turtle settles down to rest at its destination. Upon arriving, guests are presented with a sticker card. Visit each location to get a sticker. Fill the card to get a grand prize! Each location offers one complimentary item from its menu, included in the resort ticket.

The staff primarily consists of friendly sea turtles (actually Cursed Sea Turtles, pg. 17) that do everything to keep their guests happy. Well, during daylight at least. When night falls, they retreat to the cave (area 9) where they turn into hideous murderous beasts that are anything but cute. On double moon nights, a nightly sacrificial ritual is performed at area 10. Other than that, this resort is all fine and dandy! Or is it..?

5. Pod Bungalows

These egg-shaped pods are filled with every luxury imaginable and hang from a rope bridge off the side of the island. When the island sinks, they stay afloat, bobbing on the surface. The translucent floor offers a view of the bottom of the sea and is constantly polished by fuzzy sea urchins.

6. Seahorse Racetrack

Colorful giant seahorses are lined up and ready for action at the lake. For every character who participates in a race, one opponent joins. The race consists of three sections: Start, Middle, Finish. Roll a Skill check during the Start and Middle sections. For every successful roll, a +2 Skill bonus can be added to the final check at the finish line, where everyone does a Skill check VS each other. These scores determine the placements of the race. The winner gets to keep their seahorse and the runner-up gets a t-shirt saying "I was the first loser at the Seahorse Racetrack!".

7. Sunny Swordfish Spa

The spa is situated on platforms stuck in the lake. Guests can get a salt scrub from a sea lion, a brutal octopus massage, visit the scalding hot sauna, or partake in yoga lessons supervised by a very flexible squid. An Overly Demanding Blobfish (pg. 18) that insists on getting a salt rub. More salt can be found in the cave (area 9).

8. Bungee Platform

Situated at the top of the center mountain's waterfall, this platform overlooks the entire island. A Skill check is required to do a bungee jump. On a fumble (double 6), the bungee cord snaps and the character must do a Luck check or splash down into the lake below taking 1d6 damage.

9. The Cave

Through a path in the jungle looms an ominous cave entrance. Outside are signs saying "Keep out!" and "Danger!". Inside the cave is a tunnel with ankle-deep water and rainbow-colored bioluminescent bacteria covering the walls. The rough stairs at the end of the tunnel lead up to a small lake with resplendent milky blue water. Submerged are 2d6 sleeping Cursed Sea Turtles (pg. 17) in their monstrous form. Huge pink salt formations can be found on the other side of the lake.

10. Ritual Area

At night the sunset can be seen from this wooden platform built into the beach. At full moon, all the turtle staff (Cursed Sea Turtles, pg. 17) turn into their monstrous form and begin a hideous ritual. A group of guests from the pod bungalows (area 5) are taken to the beach to participate in an "exclusive" ritual. Torches are stuck into the beach, the turtles dance with colorful bands and juggle balls of fire while chanting feverishly. The guests are incorporated into the enchanting dance and bound with pastel bands. Narcotic smoke helps keep the victims relaxed. Once the chanting reaches its crescendo, the waters in front of the viewpoint churn and a gargantuan fish appears, ready to receive its sacrifice.
