

it looked like this...

Well I heard..

Handwriting practice lines consisting of ten horizontal dashed lines.

the chaos car

It looks like a normal carriage, hoity toity passengers and all until you get close up.

Then it sprouts arms and legs and horrible gaping mouth. Teeth like rotting tombstones and a stench so foul it'll make the stoutest barbarian spew their guts up on the road.

That's right. My cousin Ambrose saw it lift a man ten feet in the air and drop him into its mouth. They could hear him screaming inside it as it lumbered off down the road as they all stood rooted to the ground, paralysed with fear.

Did you know it lives in the woods in the base of ancient tree. Discarded possessions of those it has devoured litter the ground around it. Some of them will come alive and take a piece out of you, and other cover pitfalls and bear-traps.