You want me to move out.

Uh, yeah.

I've wanted you to move out for the past month!

You had until the end of this week to find something new!

I thought you were kidding!

...WHY DIDN'T YOU REMIND ME?!!

Bro, I didn't think "you have one month to move out" needed any reminders!

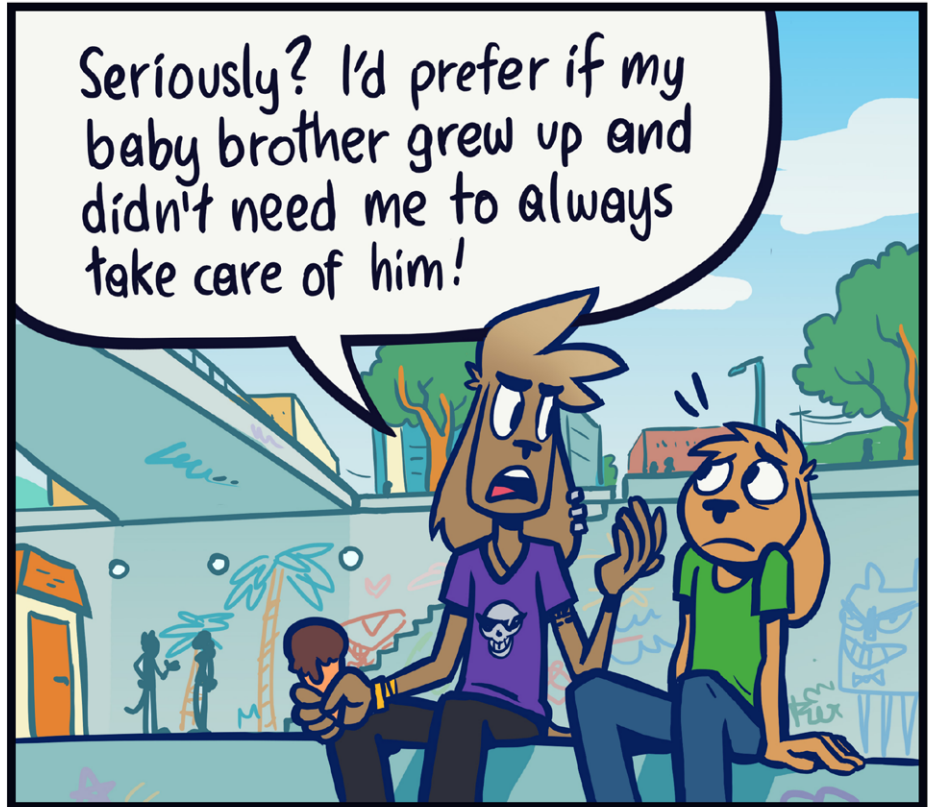

I thought this'd work out. Could've set up a studio in your room, maybe got my music far enough to start making money off it...

But wouldn't you miss your baby brother?

Seriously? I'd prefer if my baby brother grew up and didn't need me to always take care of him!

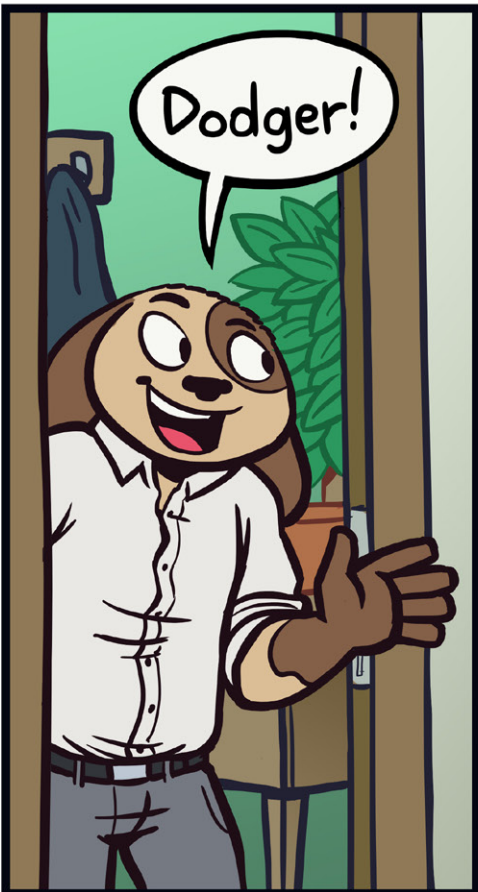

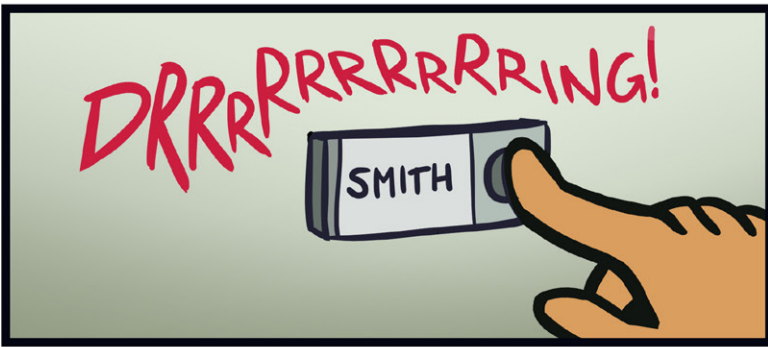

FINE.

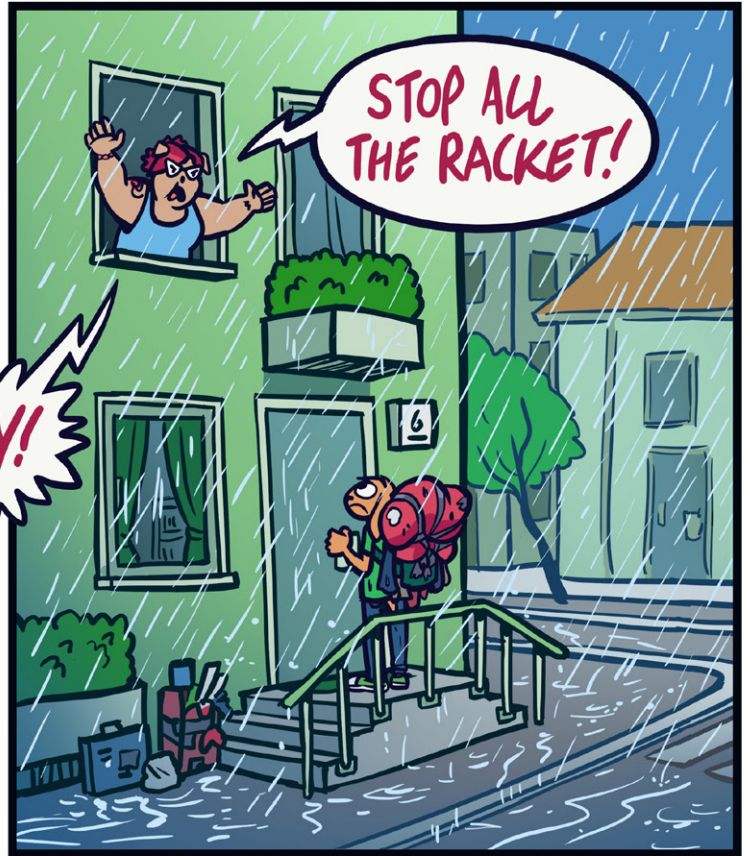

I'M TAKING THIS!

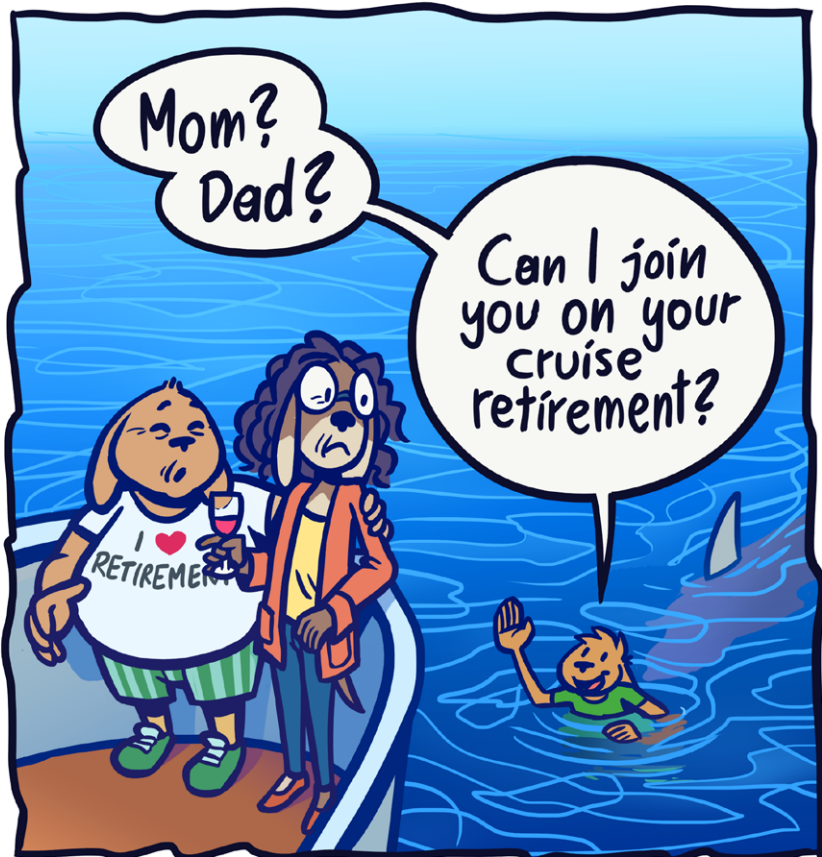

...can I help you?

Oh, no! Just camping out for the Gamebox 4 as one does!

Dude, the Gamebox 3 only just came out!

yes.

Sorry! SORRY!! Sheeesh...! I didn't think this abandoned building would already be taken!

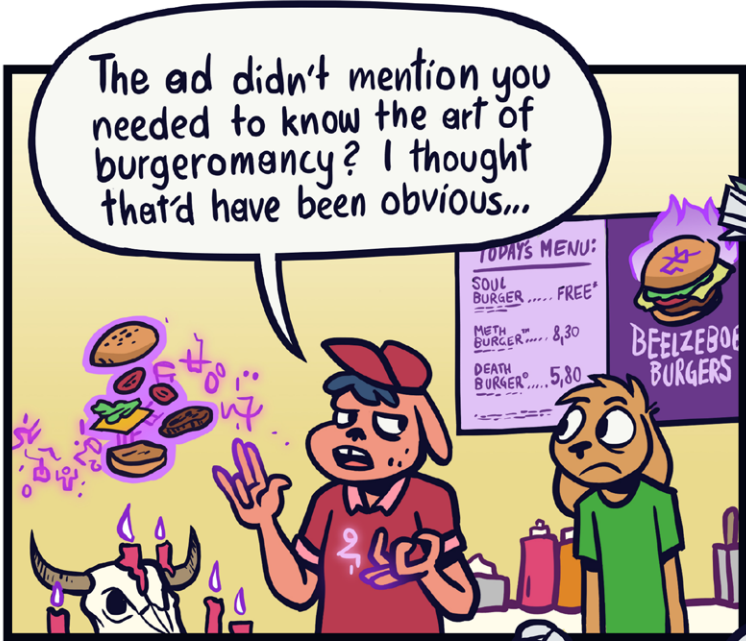

~SIGH~

Maybe I should start by looking for a job...

Alright, giant pile of job offers... whatcha got?

The ad didn't mention you needed to know the art of burgeromancy? I thought that'd have been obvious...

Burgeromancy? Oh, no! In fact, we WOULDN'T hire you if you had any experience in that vile magick.

Of course, we DO require applicants to be able to recount the Seventy Sacraments of Saint Sandwich.

That really wasn't a long story at all!

I barely even had a sip...!

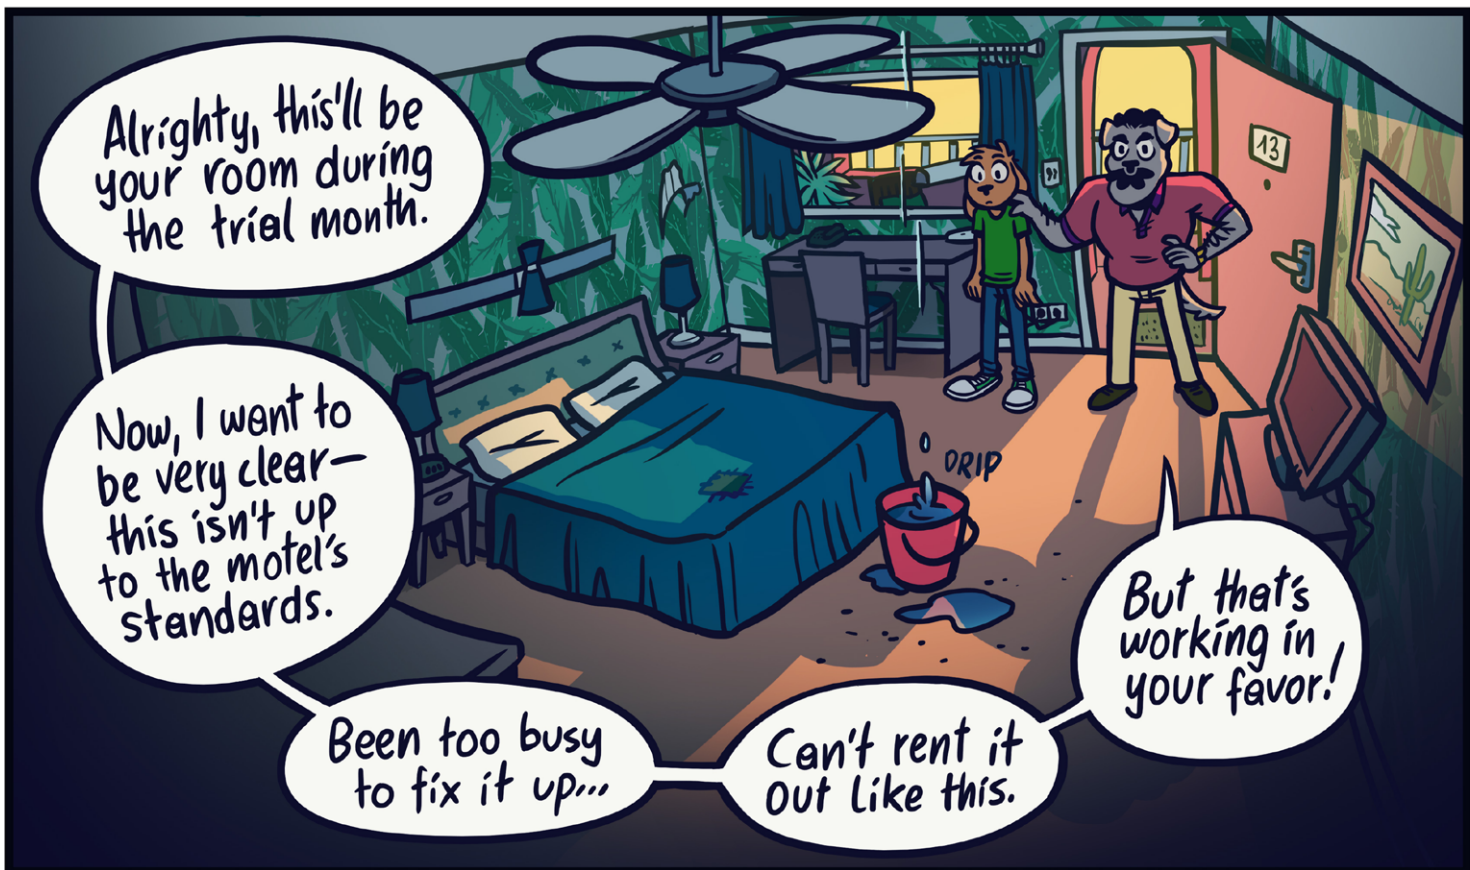

I can't believe your brothers just kicked you out like that! ...Even when things get tough, family needs to stick together and work out problems!

So... uh... about the position...?

Right!

Yeah!
Look, I need to talk it over with dad, but I have an idea on how we could help you out!

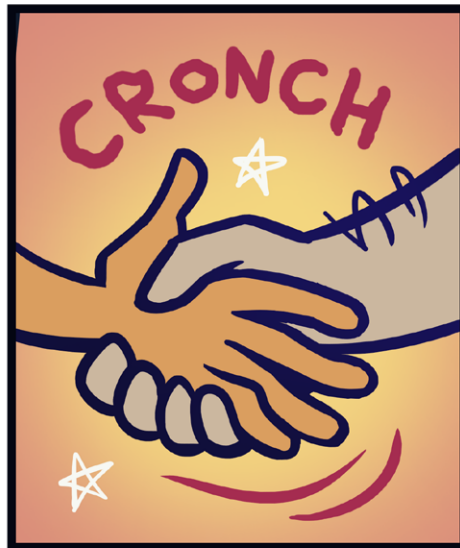

Alrighty, this'll be your room during the trial month.

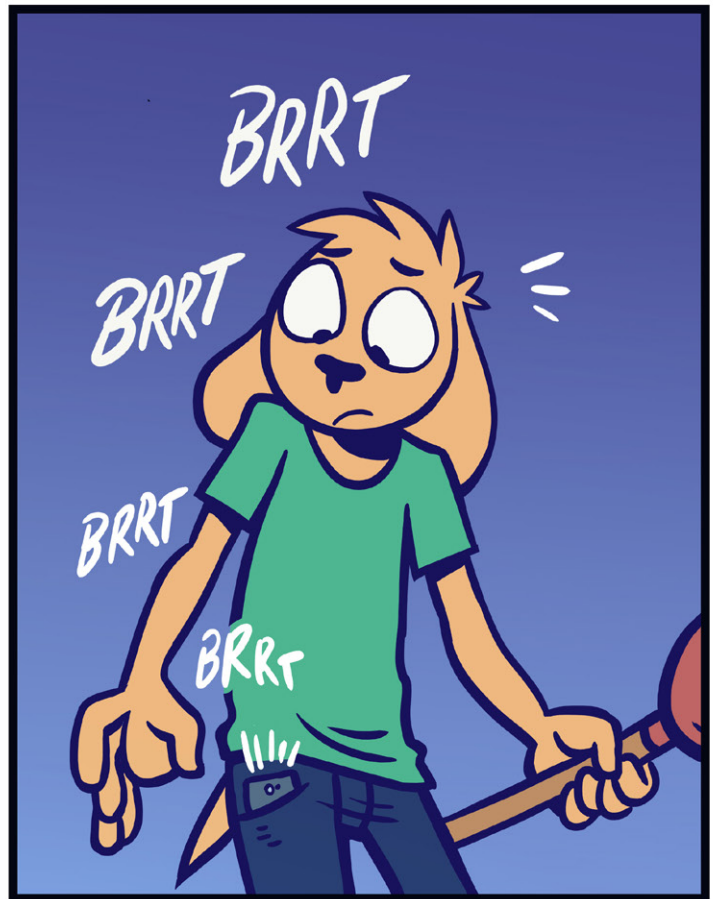

Now, I want to be very clear—this isn't up to the motel's standards.

Been too busy to fix it up...

Can't rent it out like this.

But that's working in your favor!

WEBTOON PANELS

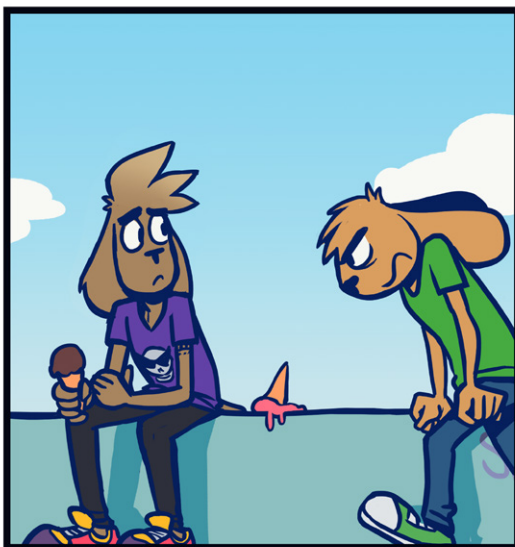

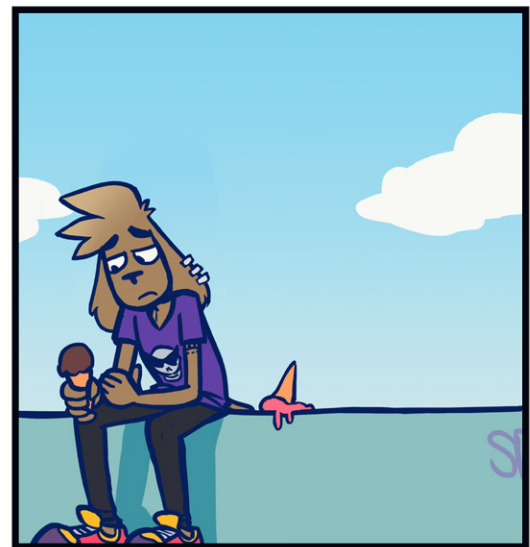

The 2018 Webtoon version of this chapter featured a bunch of new artwork unseen in the original version of the comic released in 2017.

A few small refinements were made and a bunch of panels were added to lengthen some „episodes“. This version of the comic includes these changes.

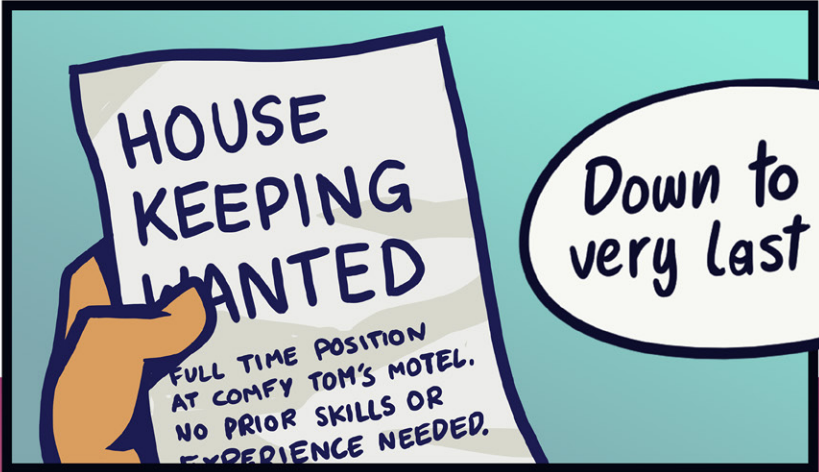

The Webtoon version also features a couple of filler panels that were added to improve the pacing of a reading experience on mobile devices. Although they were unnecessary for this version of the comic, I've created this section to provide a complete collection of the first chapter.

Down to the very last one...

This better be it...

CHARACTER BIOS

Dodger

Dodger Smith, 22

Dodger likes to play video games and not much else, because he's pretty good at video games and not much else.

DJ

Daniel James Smith, 28

Dodger's oldest brother, and the fraternal twin to Shadow. He wants to pursue a career in music, but finds himself struggling to follow up his ambitions with actions.

Shadow

Shadow Smith, 28

Although surpassed in age by DJ by a few minutes, his quiet and contemplative demeanor lets him come off as a lot older than both DJ and Dodger, for whom he often serves as a source of advice and direction.

Enrico

Enrico Hernández, 22

The patience of a saint.
On a related note,
Dodger's best friend
since they were kids.
(Probably knows him better than Dodger does himself.)
Smarter than he lets on.

Sammy

Samantha Locke, 23

Knows Dodger (and Enrico) through online games.

Strong-willed and enthusiastic, fiercely loyal to family and friends. Loves to help others and frequently tries to amuse with silly jokes.

Tom

Thomas Locke, 44

The owner and founder of Comfy Tom's Motel, and Sammy's proud dad. A hard worker that tries to make every minute of each day count.

Barb Smith, 63
Kind of aloof.

Ranch Smith, 64
Kind of a goof.

WEIRDOGS

by SIMON WL

Weirdogs is a goofy slice-of-life and occasional adventure webcomic about Dodger, a lazy pup who loves nothing more than to play video games all day.

But when his life changes drastically one day, he suddenly finds himself having to grow up.
