

All ghosts need someone to haunt. Detail the first transgressor. What is their name and age.

Now decide how they died. Go into as much or as little detail as you want, but it should be a tragic, unjust death.

Now decide who this person was. What was their name, how old were they, what brought them to this place.

Find a location that interests you. Someone has now died there.

Now decide their transgression. What did they do in this place to upset this mournful spirit.

Now knowing how they wronged the ghost, detail the consequences of their actions. How did the ghost enact vengeance.

Repeat creating a history of transgressions until your spot has a long history of hauntings.

Hope none of them manifest real.
