

1.
CRAWL. Find a place of long low urban sprawl.
Draw the plants that cover
and those that burst
forth from the ground cover.

2.
CLIMB. Find a place that challenges the stratus.
Something tall is now
derelict and plants
use it as a trellis.
Draw the plants that
climb high this structure.

3.
CLING. Human architecture
sometimes just at strange angles. Plants still have the resolve to cover.

Draw this strange shape
and how the plants cling
to its slanted sides.

Nature undertook to overtake and in the end it was successful.

Find three locations
sketch them out.

Over the sketch draw
the plant life that
reclaims the space.

RECLAIM

by: s.pines
@smolghost