

Heart Full Of Trash

Even Raccoons need love!

And what better way to celebrate that love than to go on a date to the fanciest garbage can in town (it has 2 stars on GarbageReviews)!

You have candles. You have food. You have garbage. And now all you need is some romantic small talk!

Which is the hard bit....

You will need:

- Some Items For Recycling
(Clean before playing)
- Recycling Bins

(Or a way to separate the recycling)

- A Guide To Sorting Recycling

(One that is applicable to your building/ municipality)

Players play as raccoons on a date, slowly creating their characters as the date progresses.

Sit at a table facing the other player.

One player should have all of the recycling, while the other player has the recycling bins.

The player who has the recycling starts the date by making small talk for a few minutes.

Use this time to come up with some general ideas about your raccoon and their personality.

After a few minutes, the first raccoon should ask the other raccoon a question.

When they do this, the player should secretly pick one piece of recycling, while the other player secretly picks one of the recycling bins. Once both players have picked, count to three and reveal the chosen recycling and the chosen recycling bin.

If the chosen recycling does go into the chosen bin, the raccoon being questioned answers positively (Yes, agree, etc.)

If the chosen recycling does not go into the chosen bin, the raccoon being questioned answers negatively (No, disagree, etc.)

After this, the raccoon who was asked the question gets to talk. They can build on their answer or they can move onto another topic.

After a few minutes, they ask the other raccoon a question.

At this point, the process repeats.

As your date goes on, you slowly build up a bigger picture of your raccoons and their relationship.

Every 3-4 questions, swap positions at the table so that each player gets a chance to use both the recycling and the bins.